From the Principal...

Dear Parents,

I hope you enjoyed your holiday season with family and friends. It is hard to believe that we are almost half way through the 2009-2010 school year. The second quarter will end on Friday, January 22nd. School will not be in session on Monday, January 25th as teachers have a work day to complete report cards and end of the quarter tasks. Report cards will be sent home with students on Thursday, January 28th. Please sign the envelope and return it to your child's teacher. The report card is for you to keep in your records.

During Parent/Teacher conferences in November we had a 96% attendance rate by Luther parents. Thank you for being involved and caring about your child's progress. A goal of mine is to get more parents involved in other special events at Luther. It is always nice to have parents in our school as this creates a wonderful environment for students. Other than conferences our volunteer numbers have been low. As a result, the Holiday Fun Fair was cancelled and we did not have as much success with the Book Fair in the fall. So I am hoping that all parents can make it a priority to attend a few of the special events held at Luther in the spring. More information will be forthcoming on the Snowflake Dance, Are you Smarter Than a Fifth Grader competition, etc. We are also looking for parents to help with Market Day and other PTO events. I know that all of us have busy lives with work and family, but please help us by getting involved.

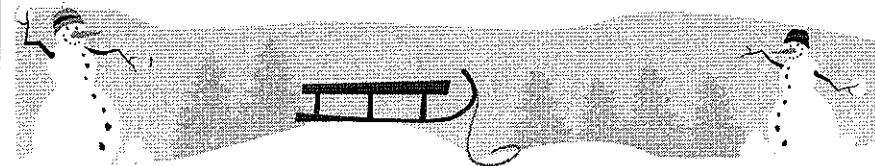

If you would like to get more involved please call us at 568-4465 or join us at a PTO meeting on the first Tuesday of each month at 6:00 p.m. Thank you for your consideration.

COFFEE FUNDRAISER

Thanks to all who participated in the Fall Fundraiser.

Fundraising is a critical part of PTO and the contributions PTO makes to the students of Luther Elementary.

We made approximately $1,700.00 profit for the school. 44 families participated and that is about 16% of the students that attend Luther Elementary. Thanks again for all your help and support of Luther Elementary. If you do have any ideas about fundraising, please contact the PTO.

You are cordially invited to attend.....

THE SNOWFLAKE DANCE

When: Friday, January 22

From 6:30-8:00 p.m.

Where: Luther Café

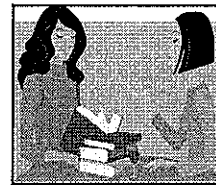

Parents and siblings are welcome and encouraged to attend!

Refreshments and snacks will be provided.

Sponsored by: The Lightning Leader Team (LLT)

SCIENCE ROCKS!

All students have the option to participate in the Fort Atkinson Regional Science Fair! Packets of information and working journals may be picked up in the Luther office. All projects are due on Friday, February 19th. Projects may be dropped off at the Hoard Museum on that Friday from 3:00-6:00 p.m. We encourage all students to get creative and explore an idea for the Science Fair.

We are in need of interpreters. If you speak Spanish and English fluently and are interested in interpreting for school meetings, conferences, etc. please call 568-4465 and ask to speak with Mr. Geiger.

School Pics is coming on January 20th to take photos of each child while working in school. They will sell the pictures to parents during the Parent/Teacher conferences in February. More information will be forthcoming.

THANK YOU

Hello students and families!

The Luther Winter Concerts were a huge success! Thank you for your attendance and support of your children and their performances. We had such fun learning about different December holidays and traditions. We also feel special being able to sing in other languages. Do you know that between the songs in the 3 programs we covered a bit of Spanish, French, Russian, German, and Hebrew, as well as all that English? Oh what fun!

Please know that we could not have accomplished such a display without the help of all of our teachers and various support staff. From classroom teachers to paraprofessionals, to maintenance staff, everyone is needed to make a full school program possible. Thank you so very much!

Job Well Done!

Congratulations to the following students who have had their work selected to appear in the local Southern Lakes Anthology booklet:

Tela Heinke and Courtney Dunkleberger for their writing and artwork.

Mason Emrick and Grayson Coleman for their writing and artwork.

December Behling for her drawing.

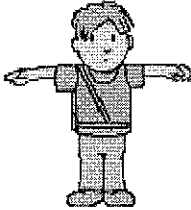

Rachel Hamele for her cartoon.

Each of these pieces will move on to the next level of competition and be judged along with the work of students in surrounding school districts. We wish them luck in the next round and hope their work is chosen for the final anthology.

SAFETY PATROL

Congratulations to Martin Bernarbe and Chance Johnson. They were treated to lunch with fellow safety patrollers, Officer Courtier, and Mr. Geiger on Monday, December 21, 2009.

Semester Milk:

At registration, you were given the option of paying for milk break at $25 for the semester or $49 for the year. Second Semester milk notices went home on the week of December 14. All payments are due on or before January 26, 2009. Checks should be made payable to S.D.F.A.

Students receiving free or reduced meals will continue to receive free milk.

EARLY RELEASE DAYS

The School District will again have periodic early release days for teacher meetings, in-service work, and end of the quarter records completion.

Elementary students will be dismissed at 11:50 a.m. on the following days:

February 25

March 26

April 16

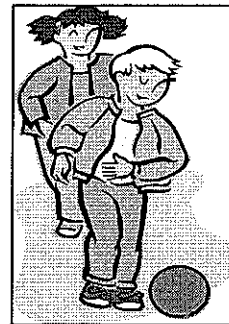

May 7

June 10 (Last Day)

Please be sure your child knows where he/she will go on all these shortened days and how he/she will get there. Please also note that there will be no lunch at school on all early release days.

RECESS

It is expected that all children go outside for recess at their respective times. Students may have to stay in for recess due to a teacher request to complete work or to discuss behavior concerns, and that is acceptable. Other than those reasons, children need to have proper winter clothing to play outside. If you feel that your child is too sick to be outside, then they should remain at home. Thank you for your support in this matter.

Geography Bee:

Luther School is once again participating in the National Geographic Society Geography Bee. Throughout the nation, students in grades 4-8 are competing for the right to represent their states in the National Finals in Washington, D.C. in Spring. Preparation information is available on-line at nationalgeographic.com

Here at Luther, classroom competitions were held in each fourth and fifth grade classroom during the month of December. The twelve finalists are listed below. The school final contest will be on Thursday, January 7, 2010, at 12:45 p.m. in the Board Room.

Winter Weather:

Winter months bring cold weather. Students will continue to go outside for recess every day unless the temperature or wind-chill drops below zero. Please make sure your child wears a warm coat, hat, gloves or mittens, and boots to protect him/her from the cold weather.

In case of bad weather that would result in the cancellation or delayed start of school, watch or listen to any of the TV or radio stations listed below. Please do not call the school to ask whether school is in session or not. We need to keep the phone lines open for emergency communication.

How Families Can Help Children Become Better Readers

School District of Fort Atkinson

Family impacts love of books

When you read with your child, especially with excitement, you show how much fun reading is. That's a gift that lasts a lifetime! To do this:

- Admire the book. Together, notice the cover, pictures and other features. Who wrote it? Who illustrated it? To whom is it dedicated?
- Take your time. Instead of flying through the pages, turn them slowly, building anticipation. What will happen next? Can your child guess?
- Talk about it. What did your child think of the story? Can she relate to it in any way? Discuss what you might read together next—perhaps another book by the same author.

“Books are the quietest and most constant of friends: They are the most accessible and wisest of counselors, and the most patient of teachers.”

—Charles W. Eliot

Graphic organizers should inspire, not intimidate

Making a graphic organizer sounds complicated, but it's an easy way for your child to organize information for reports or essays. All it requires is a sheet of paper. Three types are:

1. Fact and opinion. Your child should choose a main topic and write it down. Then divide the page into two columns: facts and opinions. As your child reads, he can add to each column.
2. Description wheel. Have your child draw a wheel and write a topic (such as “George Washington”) in the middle. On each spoke, he can write something descriptive (such as “first president” or “born in 1732”).
3. Ice cream cone. Write a main topic on a cone shape. Then add a scoop for each detail. Suggest that your child color them in with his favorite “flavors.”

Solve reading issues together

Teachers are experts at helping children through reading assignments. If your child has trouble reading at home, ask the teacher about:

- Tricks that can help your child figure out words, such as looking at nearby pictures, thinking of similar words and noticing familiar parts of words.
- Reading goals for your child. Discuss how to choose reading materials for your child—and the best ways to support his success.

Source: “Helping your child learn to read—A parent's guide,” Ontario Ministry of Education, www.edu.gov.on.ca/eng/document/brochure/earlyreading/index.html#teacher.

Need a confidence boost?

Does your child struggle with reading, but long to “finish a book” by herself? Ask the librarian about traditional-length books that are easy to read. Finishing a “big-kid” book is a milestone. It can build confidence for new reading challenges!

Check book's vocabulary level

Reading books with too many new words can make reading frustrating ... and that prevents reading! When your child considers a new book, try the “five word” rule. If three to five words are unfamiliar to her (per page), read the book together. More than five unfamiliar words per page means the book is too hard right now. Read it out loud to her instead.

Source: Hal W. Lanse, Read Well, Think Well, ISBN: 978-15-98697827 (Adams Media, www.adamsmedia.com).

Serious skill can become serious fun for your child

You want your child to read more—but you refuse to nag her about it. (Good decision!) Try alternatives such as:

- List her interests, and then go to the library to scout out irresistible books on those subjects.
- Place exciting reading materials, such as books, comics and magazines, all around the house.
- Read aloud to get your child excited about reading. She may even pick up a book you started together.
- Suggest that your child read to a younger relative or friend. This gives her a chance to take pride in her skills.
- Make reading a treat. Let your child stay up later to read. Or read a joke book at dinnertime. Show that reading is as enjoyable as it is important.

For lower elementary readers:

Fireflies by Julie Brinckloe (Aladdin). This touching story about catching fireflies—and deciding whether to let them go—is perfect for family reading and discussion.

What's New at the Zoo? by Suzanne Slade (Sylvan Dell). Animals and addition come together naturally in this zoo adventure. Throughout the book, kids can solve simple problems, find a hidden red balloon and more.

For upper elementary readers:

Extra Credit by Andrew Clements (Simon & Schuster). Abby may have to repeat the sixth grade—unless she takes on an extra credit project that involves finding a pen pal in a foreign country.

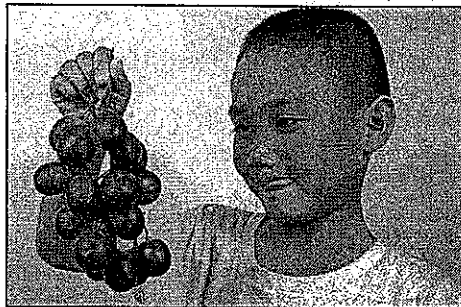

Baseball Great by Tim Green (HarperCollins). Josh is a great baseball player—but can he handle the pressure in the big leagues? And is it worth it?

New Year's traditions can spark a year of reading

Would your child enjoy learning about how people in different cultures celebrate their New Year? Does he know about eating grapes at midnight? Or rice cakes as the first meal of the New Year? Some New Years begin in the spring, or depend on the moon's cycles. Read about New Year traditions this January.

Consider books like:

- Shanté Keys and the New Year's Peas by Gail Piernas-Davenport (Albert Whitman & Company).

- New Clothes for New Year's Day by Hyun-joo Bae (Kane/Miller Book Pub).
- Hiss! Pop! Boom! Celebrating Chinese New Year by Tricia Morrissey (ThingsAsian Press).

Q. I keep hearing the term "reading genres." What is a genre, exactly?

A. Books are divided into two major groups: fiction and nonfiction. Beyond that, there are many "genres"—or types—of books. At school, kids learn about popular genres, such as historical fiction, poetry, biographies, mysteries, autobiographies and more. Talk with your child about them. Which ones interest her most?

Source: "Reading Genre Definitions," Book Nuts Reading Club, www.booknutsreadingclub.com/genrelist.html.

Do you have a question about reading? Email readingadvisor@parent-institute.com.

Library books promote responsibility, independence

Using the library is an exciting responsibility. Help your child succeed at:

- Taking care of books at home. Have your child put them in a special spot, such as on a bedside table, where they'll be handy and safe.
- Returning books on time. Have your child write due dates on the calendar. Or make regular trips to the library to return books and check out new ones.

Mr. Geiger's items: A new computer lab will cost approximately $25,000 for 26 computers. This is an initiative that may be pursued in the future. The US Cellular grant of $100,000 would entail asking individuals to go to a US Cellular store, receiving an ID number, and logging on to promote Luther. We will not be pursuing that fundraiser at this time. School Pics will be offering a fundraiser during February conferences in which parents can buy a photo of their child in a learning environment. Pictures will be taken on January 20. The cost of each 8x10 picture is $1; PTO may charge more than that as a fundraiser. Mr. Geiger will ask a few more questions of the photography studio about the size of picture and the logistics of getting a photo of every student and report back in January. Activity pictures were taken on December 1st. Market Day-Cheryl Berg has stepped down from the chair position. Kelly Roehl will continue through January. A new chair is needed for this committee. Please contact Mr. Geiger if interested. Portrait tiles-the custodians have some ideas for display and will examine the tiles for fitting. Parent-teacher conferences-95% of families participated.

Other

Berres Brothers Coffee fundraiser- Coffee pick up will occur on December 11th from 3-5 pm in the Board Room. 44 families participated and sold an average of $96 worth of product. 16.2% of our students participated and PTO made 35% of the profit.

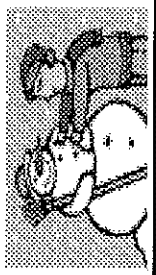

Holiday Fun Fair- 59 people have signed up and that number is down significantly from years past. PTO voted to cancel the event and provide the crafts to all students during the school day on December 21st. Michele S will organize the event in which teachers bring students to the cafeteria to participate. PTO voted to give $160 to pay for the cost of the crafts.

Sharing Tree- There are a lot of ornaments still hanging on the tree to provide food for Luther families. PTO voted to provide $100 from the charity budget to pay for more food.

Childcare-Childcare will be provided for all of the remaining meetings for the 2009-10 school year.

The meeting was adjourned at 6:56 pm.
